CELLPHONE POLICY

In accordance with the American Camping Association Guidelines and the operating protocol of Camp Bravo, campers are NOT allowed to keep a cell phone on their persons or in their cabins. Cell phones are required to be turned in to camp staff at registration. All cell phones will be stored in one central location, so should there be an emergency, campers will have immediate access to all devices.

Per the Camp Bravo philosophy of immersive education, we don't provide an opportunity for any recreational use of these devices and request that calls home be restricted to emergency situations only. If parents are uncomfortable with this arrangement, please contact our office at 818-832-2341.

For those students staying multiple weeks, access to cell phones will be permitted during the cross-over period between sessions.

ATTIRE POLICY

All participants should bring clothing appropriate for the professional environment of our workshops. We do not require leotards, jazz shoes, etc. However, during workshops and camp activities, we do not allow skinny jeans, halter tops, spaghetti straps, mid-drifts, short shorts, and other attire that would be too short or form fitting for the physicality required. The Attire Policy is intended for scheduled workshops and activities and does not apply to campers free time.

Participants must wear close-toed shoes at all times.
